TREE REPORT

This is in regards to a multi stem Ash Tree that has a TPO on it at the rear of no 8 , also a dead Ash tree in the Bottom corner of the garden at no 7 .

I have inspected the trees a couple of times and it has been reduced and pollard for safety reasons in the past.

One of the main stems has recently collapsed into the lower garden of another property, because of decay. The stems are very hollow from the top to the base, it has metal bars fused into its bark and is in a very poor condition it has 2 types of fruiting fungi at the base and all the way up the stem.

In my opinion they have no horticultural value anymore and are both dead which makes them dangerous to the residents of these properties. They should be cut down to a safer height and let it rot away.

I hope this can be of use to you in regards the TPO to have it removed.

Yours sincerely
Adrian Johnson-Reynolds
