Details of the pre-application advice received

As Neil has alluded to, the Council has permitted development rights for specific works that effectively grant planning permission providing you comply with said criteria.

So in terms of the EV Charging Points, these would likely be permitted development under Part 12 of the General Permitted Development Order.

In terms of the use itself, the site appears to have been used as a car park for several years (since 2008) so I would be of the view its use to park Council vehicles would not require planning permission, even if segregated off separately.

In terms of the fencing, there are general PD rights for fences up to 2m providing they are not adjacent to the Highway (as the height would be 1m if so, which would be the case here). I appreciate some people would view the Part 12 PD rights as enabling fences up to 4m in height, but I wouldn't say the fence was required to enable the parking myself as it is already being used for parking so I would be of the view this doesn't apply. If the fencing exceeded 4m then the above would be a moot point in any event and planning permission would be required.

I'd be of the view that planning permission for the fencing would be required and an application would be needed.

We'd require a clear site plan indicating the area to be fenced off, an indication of where the fencing would be installed and its height. A typical fence detail would also be required. As advised, I would always recommend Paladin / Weldmesh fencing over Palisade which is unacceptable visually. An application would take 8 weeks to determine or thereabouts.
