SITING:

Ideally this nest box should be hung directly under a roof overhang or gutter, avoiding direct sunlight. A metal bracket is included to make mounting this box easy - simply fix the metal bracket to the wall and slide the box over the bracket to hold it firmly in place.

Decide where the nest box will be sited and then fix the metal bracket to the wall. The nest box then just slides over the bracket holding it firmly. This also makes it easier to mount a camera in this box as there is a sizeable hole in the back where the plate fixes.

MAINTENANCE:

This low-maintenance nest box is made entirely from woodstone material, which is more durable than wood. It has an entrance on the front of the box for easy access by swifts and an opening at the back to make it easy to clean, when necessary. Swifts are very clean, so the box does not need cleaning unless it has been used by other species. Periodically check the fixings to ensure they are still firmly attached
